Needs Assessment Tool for Carers of People with Advanced Cancer (NAT-C)

What is the NAT-C about?

Being a carer for someone with advanced cancer is important. It can also be demanding and affect your own health and well-being. GPs have knowledge and experience to help carers with their own health problems. The NAT-C can help you to identify any concerns that you may have so that your GP may be able to discuss them with you. Your GP cares about your health and well-being.

How does the NAT-C work?

For you, the NAT-C helps to name the issues which are important to you about your own health and well-being. Your GP can help you do this. It also helps you to note which of these you would like to discuss with your GP, and whether you would like to do this today or at another time. For you and your GP, the NAT-C is like a conversation-starter, to help guide what you discuss today. It is also like a planner, to help improve and maintain your own health.

How are my health concerns protected?

Your privacy is important, and what you discuss with your GP is confidential. Without your permission, it will not be discussed with anyone else, including the person that you are caring for.

How can I help my GP to deal with my concerns?

- Complete the NAT-C before you see the GP, so that they have a chance to read it before seeing you.
- It will be helpful if you book a long appointment with the GP.
- If there are several issues which you would like to discuss soon, your GP might suggest that you make a further appointment to continue on from today's visit.

Information for your GP

- The NAT-C lists the common concerns of carers regarding their health and well-being.
- The completed NAT-C identifies your patient's concerns about the person's health and well-being.
- It also ranks the relative importance of these concerns, and indicates when the patient would like to discuss them that may not necessarily be today.
- It can be completed by the patient, or with your help.
- You may wish to flag with the patient any issues of concern that they may not wish to discuss.
- If your patient identifies several concerns to discuss today, you may wish to discuss those of most importance to the patient, and suggest another appointment to complete the rest.
